SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

"If all churches throughout the world could work together for peace with freedom, it would be a splendid thing. The ideal of our civilization for almost 2,000 years has been peace on earth, good will towards man. Unfortunately, churches have not yet found a worthwhile instrument for promoting the only kind of peace that is meaningful—peace with freedom."

Certainly, the World Council of Churches, which recently completed its Fourth Assembly at Uppsala, Sweden, is not the desired instrument. Instead of promoting the cause of freedom, the WCC gave aid and comfort—and supplied propaganda—to the forces of tyranny in the world today, forces that are so decisively described themselves as "peace" forces.

For example, the World Council of Churches called for an immediate, unconditional end to the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam. But it didn't demand that the North Vietnamese Communists regime stop its campaign of aggression and terrorism against the South. That the WCC would take the side of the aggressor is a revealing feature of its attitude.

The WCC statement against U.S. bombing was not the only indicator of the organization's bias in favor of revolutionary action. One speaker from India urged the delegates to "firmly accept the idea of disorder and strife as a normal part of change in our times. The Assembly also gave a platform of the American radical, novelist James Baldwin, who spoke of "churchmen" in praise of Stokely Carmichael, the Black Power advocate and Castro admirer who specializes in incendiary threats against American leaders. When Baldwin finished his hymn of praise for Carmichael, the delegates to the Council applauded.

Finally, the WCC came to the aid of the four Americans, including the chaplain of Yale University, the Rev. William Scofield Coffin, who were convicted in a federal court of conspiring to influence young Americans to violate the draft laws. The World Council of Churches endorsed the principle of selective objection to "particular wars," which is the principle upheld by Rev. Coffin and his co-conspirators.

Neither the United States nor any other free republic could long endure if each citizen decided whether or not he wanted to support the war in which his country engaged. As the old saying goes, all good men should come to the aid of their country in time of trouble.

If selective participation in wars were permitted, the cowardly and the greedy would never render service to their country. They would prefer to sit at home in safety or seek ways of prospering while others faced the dangers of the battlefield and devoted months and years of their life to unseasonal suffering. The burden of defending a society must fall equally on all, except as where infirmity or extreme hardship applies. The laws of the United States clearly require special circumstances. The laws even provide for those who have a true conscientious objection to fighting of any sort at any time. But injustice would be done to all brave and loyal citizens if the fearful or the cynical were exempted from service to their nation and fellow countrymen.

It is interesting, in terms of the WCC declaration favoring "selective" objection to war was issued from a meeting place in the American people at the time of the Cuban missile crisis.

The former Assistant Secretary of Defense states that the people have a right to be told that there is no evidence of conspiracy in the riding to our major cities—except with a report from a "reliable" source that the FBI has just such evidence, but that it is being suppressed.

Many newsmen and others have never forgotten or forgiven the outright falsehood of the statement which Sylvester released—has he later explained—to conceal our enemies.

The "right to lie" has apparently been employed, if not as eloquently defended, by a number of others in recent days.

Who is there who does not remember when Gen. Nelson Rockefeller was vigorously stated that he had no interest in the presidency, even going as far as to sign the affidavit required in Oregon so that his name would not be on the presidential ballot? That affidavit said: "I am not and will not be a candidate for the president."

How can you square that with his frantic campaign now to get the nomination?

The untruthfulness of the statements of political leaders is emphasized by a report that many top men in other governments believe that Lyndon Johnson will be the nominee of his party—that he never intended to take his name out of the race permanently.

Believe it or not?

And how about the statement made recently by Attorney General Ramsey Clark to the effect that there was no evidence of conspiracy in the riding to our major cities—except with a report from a "reliable" source that the FBI has just such evidence, but that it is being suppressed?

What does the Bible say about the matter of truthfulness?

The commandment, "Thou shalt not bear false witness," seems to be pretty clear.

Jesus was even more explicit when He declared, "The devil is a liar and the father of it."

Twisting the Truth

What will be the fate of those who twist the truth to suit their purposes?

The Bible is clear about that.

Lies are classed with some other unseemly characters in the Bible as those who are destined for the lake of fire. "The fearful and unbelieving, and the abominable and murderers, and all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone."

It is exceedingly risky business to trifle with the truth.

Guns don't kill people. People kill people. This is a fact that a lot of hysterical people seem to have lost sight of. All the gun laws on the books would not have prevented the assassination of Bobby Kennedy. Why? Because the State of California had a dozen laws against fire arms, all of which were broken by the killer.

If laws were the answer Kennedy would be alive today as would his brother and Martin Luther King and hundreds of other law-abiding citizens killed with guns illegally in the hands of criminals and unbalanced individuals.

Laws are not worth the paper they are written on if they cannot be enforced. Why should we clutter up our books with more restrictive laws that disarm honest citizens and protect the criminals?

It is my honest opinion that there is no law we might place on the books, unless it is to strengthen our police and law enforcement officers, would be worth a continental as far as controlling violence is concerned.

In most states today firearms are registered and you will see where Jones shot Mr. Jones, criminal shot a police officer, a teenager speeding down a busy street shoots a pedestrian just for kicks. Sure the police can trace ownership of the gun. The damage has been done and how or where these guns were acquired doesn't bring the victim back to life.

Do you think a criminal or rioter who obtains a gun is going to go all day to the police station and register it? Must the honest law-abiding citizens, the police officers and those who enjoy hunting be restricted in the use of firearms while the insane and criminal elements are allowed to run large armed with guns and knives?

The present hue and cry about guns is just plain ridiculous. Unfortunately very few people seem to possess either common sense or constructive thinking.

While the mentally ill and criminal elements ruin our streets, break in our homes and attack women and children killing innocent people are we supposed to make it easier to protect ourselves or really the right or help?

In my book most of the people screaming for gun laws are mentally unbalanced. They have lost the power of reason and common sense. They quote the Bible, ignore the criminal, are mentally unbalanced, and consider themselves civilized and Christian. They are just plain nuts. They do not possess the ability to think anything out and listen to reason.

In the meantime the criminals all sit back and laugh like Little Audrey. Wouldn't they just love to see America completely disarmed and police sent to quell riots with unloaded guns?

It can't happen here, brother. It is happening here. You better believe it and THINK about it.

On ability and separation, he says: "We have the policy of separate development not because of fear or hatred or any other motive, but because it has always been accepted, and it is accepted today, that each group has the right to maintain its identity." In view of the fact that South Africa is by far the strongest and most stable African country and anti-Communism is also currently helping many other African states, one cannot easily brush aside all of the Prime Minister's arguments. Certainly he has a right to be heard when country while extending aid to a number of Communist countries.

THE CUBA THREAT

Thanks to a misguided U. S. foreign policy, the Kremlin has gained a privileged sanctuary in the Caribbean from which to launch attacks throughout the Hemisphere. Most alarming of all, Cuba has become a staging area, headquarters and source of supply for the revolutionary U. S. black power movement. "Don't worry," proclaimed a satiric bumper sticker during the last Presidential campaign, "they're still 90 miles away." But they're getting closer all the time.

Secure in their privileged sanctuary, the Cuban Reds, like their Viet Cong comrades, are spreading subversion and destruction all over the Hemisphere.

The U. S. mainland has become the latest, and most alarming, theater of operations. Leader of so-called student and civil rights groups like Mark Rudd and Stokely Carmichael have gone to Cuba for aid and comfort. (Carmichael also is an honorary member of the Latin American Solidarity Organization, Havana-based, subversive group). In January, H. Ray Brown took sanctuary for six hours inside the Cuban Mission to the United Nations when policemen sought to arrest him.

Despite open provocation and aggression, the United States clings to its policy of appeasement. Indeed, the lame-duck Administration still clings hopelessly of building bridges between East and West, and lowering the Nation's missile guard. Behind the curtain of silence, however, is one country's misery and another's shame. Both cry out for a day of reckoning.—Baron's

THE HOPE OF YOUTH

In recent months and years, activities of young people all over the world have not only made newspaper headlines but have caused governments and educational crises. These activities have led some to conclude, as some always have, that the younger generations in general are going to ruin the world.

What is sometimes overlooked is the fact that five per cent of the young people make ninety-five per cent of the noise. Nor is it the noise that counts, but to constructive change or improvement. Indeed, some leaders of the young people have accomplished great things through history. One is often taken aback upon learning the ages of Jesus, or great scientists, or great philosophers at the time of their accomplishments. In other words, one need not be old to achieve big things.

Often the lack of restraint and discipline, the curfew of more absolute faith and confidence (however naive) brings about success.

An unseasonal place around us reveals that the great majority of our young people are well-behaved and good citizens. They are certain to accomplish much, since they have advantages no other generation had, such as television and rapid means of transportation and communication and a higher standard of living than any generation before them enjoyed.

VORSTER'S SIDE

Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa was recently extensively interviewed by a correspondent for an American magazine. Since the State Department has condemned South African domestic policies and since the United Nations has spoken out in opposition to them, Vorster's answer is of interest, whether one agrees or disagrees.

The first point the Prime Minister made was that the separate development of four racial communities was desired by each, and that the leaders of these communities in South Africa say so, and that these communities have experienced separate development, by choice, for hundreds of years. In each, he added, the principle of one man one vote is accepted as the goal, each controlling his own destiny from the south, to meet.

And the Prime Minister hastens to point out that whites in South Africa did not take most of their land from the native communities back. The major part of the land was inherited by him, and he said that South Africans, not natives, are the majority in the country.

The Prime Minister says despite moralistic protests from people on the outside there is practically no friction or racism in South Africa today. He believes that the fact that South Africa outlawed Communist agitators ears ago, that the Prime Minister says he would take advice from Americans on the racial issue if American leaders had solved their problems. He invites inspection of his country, admitting things are not perfect, but in the belief that the country can "stand inspection."

On ability and separation, he says: "We have the policy of separate development not because of fear or hatred or any other motive, but because it has always been accepted, and it is accepted today, that each group has the right to maintain its identity." In view of the fact that South Africa is by far the strongest and most stable African country and anti-Communism is also currently helping many other African states, one cannot easily brush aside all of the Prime Minister's arguments. Certainly he has a right to be heard when country while extending aid to a number of Communist countries.

Heart Association Of P.B. County Gives Miami Scientists $10,000

The open-heart surgical patient is wheeled into the recovery room under heavy sedation. Tracheal tubes have been inserted to help him breathe. The sedation is being constantly dosed through another tube. Often he wears a respirator to force oxygen into his lungs. Then, too, his heart is being monitored.

This is the patient. Today a measuring device developed by Heart Fund money from Palm Beach County is helping him to rest more comfortably and safely.

"Removal of the respiratory tubes at the earliest possible time will not only make the patient more comfortable, but he will actually heal faster. The body's natural healing processes are more effective than anything science can devise. The use of a respirator when the body does not need it may actually harm the patient," said Dr. Martin A. Sackner, director of the pulmonary laboratory at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Miami Beach.

He has been trying to find a way to easily measure the respiratory demands of the sedated patient without the use of painful or cumbersome diagnostic techniques.

The result of his research is an electro-mechanical device that takes the guesswork out of determining how much oxygen is needed and for how long.

Dr. Sackner's device measures the stiffness of the chest, the resistance to the air passing through the breathing passages, how well the lung capillaries are functioning, and if there are any "dead" spaces inside the lung. These dead spaces, usually caused by blood clots, seriously impair the functioning of the lung. If this is the case, the device advises the surgeon whether or not it is necessary to re-open the chest to remove the clots.

The Miami research scientist has received grants in the amount of $10,000 from the Heart Association of Palm Beach County. The chapter will again support his work during the coming year, according to Dr. Donald E. Warren, chairman of the health agency's Research Committee.

More than $90,000 from residents of Palm Beach County has been budgeted this year for research projects, primarily at Florida medical schools, Dr. Warren said.

The interest increase for United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares is expected to lead to stimulated sales of the bonds and notes, according to Jerry Thomas, Volunteer County Chairman of the Savings Bonds committee.

The interest boost, effective June 1, raised the interest rate on Series "E" and "H" Savings Bonds from 4.15% to 4.25%, lowest on Freedom Shares (U. S. Savings Notes) went from 4.74% to 4.8% compounded semi-annually when held to maturity. With both instruments the increase was to the full legal limit.

Thomas also pointed out that Freedom Shares may now be purchased across the counter from qualified insurance agents such as banks and savings and loan associations. They still must be bought in combination with the Series "E" bond in amounts equal to or less than the Series "E" purchase.

Smith was recently elected as leader of the 300,000-member individual development organization. The directors will return here to complete Jaycee programming and select a site for the organization's 1972 annual meeting.

INSPECCION DE CARROS

No se olvide de inspeccionar en esta mes de Agosto, los carros con Chapas terminando en 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.

Los carros con chapas terminando en 4 y 5, ya son verificados para su inspección, y deben inspeccionarse lo antes posible. Regístrala de $30.00 por primer ofensa, y de $500.00 por la segunda, o más. Esta multa se aplica por el Highway Patrol, por el Motor Vehicle Inspection Station, así que vaya a inspeccionarse antes que le multe la policía por la carretera. Las chapas terminando en 6 y 7 tienen una extensión de 30 días hasta el final de Agosto, para inspeccionarse. No espere hasta el final de mes porque la cola de espera en la última semana es el doble de larga.

Debe llevar la Circulación de la Maquina, el Tax Registration en la mano, y $1.75 al contado (no se aceptan cheques). La inspección cubre: los frenos, las luces, el claxon, luces intermitentes, luces de frenar, luces traseras, gomas, limpiaparabrisas.

Si el vehículo no pasa la inspección tiene una semana para arreglarlo. Si se demora más de la semana tiene que pagar $1.75 de nuevo y pasar otra inspección. Tenga esto en mente porque solamente uno de cada cinco carros pasa en la primera inspección.

Hector Co. Starts New Feed Mill At Okeechobee

Robert C. Hector, Chairman of the Board of Hector Supply Company, has announced that Hector Feed Mills has started construction of a new ultra modern formula feed mill on a 14-acre site at Okeechobee, Florida, to be in operation by the fall of 1969.

The company operated mill, with a capacity of 40 tons per hour, has an annual capability of 75,000 tons based on a normal work week.

Technically the plant is engineered to undertake grinding, flaking, steaming, mixing, batching and pelleting operations. It will contain bulk storage units to accommodate 1,000 tons together with a warehouse measuring 25,000 square feet, including a retail store for bag and other allied merchandise.

Designed to serve the growing dairy and ranch needs of central and south Florida, the mill will be operated by Hector Feed Mills, a division of Hector Supply Company. It will employ a staff of 30 people.

Hector Supply Company was founded in 1912 by H. H. Hector. With a feed mill presently at Deerfield Beach the company with its many divisions, including Hector Turf & Garden, Inc., has continued to serve the agricultural needs of South Florida. The design and construction of the new feed mill is being handled by the nationally known firm of T. E. Johnson Co., Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Pre-School Registration August 22

All students who have moved to the area during the summer and will be new students at Belle Glade High School (grades 10-12) during the 1969-70 school year are asked to come by the school to register.

In taking care of this now the student will have much more time to consider this important matter and it will also give the school time to send for students' records from their previous schools and get them before the opening of school. This might prevent the necessity of changing schedules after the school year is under way.

All new students at Belle Glade High School, including those tenth graders who attended at Belle Glade Junior High School last year, will report on August 22 and the first full day of school for all students will be August 28.

4-H To Hold Leadership Camp

The 4-H Teen Leadership Camp will be held the week of August 12-15 at Camp Cloverleaf near Lake Placid, Florida, announced by Mrs. Marylou Shriver, Area Extension Home Economics Agent.

The older 4-H members will have an opportunity to develop leadership talents and to work toward achieving the broad objectives of character and effective leadership.

Those attending from Palm Beach County are: Vickie Lund, Debbie Klenz Moody and Ronald Rode, West Palm Beach; Bob Pryor, Peggy Pryor, Riley.

U.S. Savings Bonds, New Freedom Shares

Adults attending are: Mrs. A. R. Harrington, 4-H Teacher Central Point; John Cauley, Associate County Agent, Belle Glade; and Kent Price, Associate County Agent, West Palm Beach.

Be Sure To VOTE Re-Elect H. C. (Connie) BOWEN CITY COMMISSIONER CENTRAL BOROUGH

Mr. Bowen has been in the Virgin Islands for several years.

Miss Audrey Mathis had as her guests for a dinner party Sunday evening the following people: Mr. Larry Elliot of South Bay, Mrs. V. E. Smith and Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cauley and Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Ruby. The dinner was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Burt Anderson who represent the West Bend Kitchen products.

Fishing License Cheap Compared To Alternative

Fishing without a license does not make sense and may be an expensive practice, according to Major Brantley Goodson, law enforcement chief of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Goodson said, "A resident fresh water fishing license costs only $3.00 and allows a fisherman to wet a line anywhere in the state. On the other hand, if the fisherman is caught without a license it will not only interrupt his fishing but could result in a visit with the judge. The fine for fishing without a license can be from $10 to $300 or imprisonment not to exceed ninety days."

"On an average, between four and five fishermen are arrested each day for fishing without a license. In 1951 citation were issued for jailing to have a fishing license. The total up to the end of April this year was 712," Goodson stated.

Fishermen may obtain fishing licenses at the office of all County Judges and, in most instances, licenses are available through license agents in the same place and at the same time the fisherman buys a new lure or bait.

Non-resident fishing licenses are available for as little as $2.25 for five days of fishing, $3.25 for 14 days of fishing or $8.00 for year-around fishing pleasure. Funds from the sale of fishing licenses are specifically earmarked for the production and protection of fish and wildlife.

PRIMITIVE PAST MEETS NUCLEAR FUTURE—This two-ton, 20-foot-tall tyrannosaurus rex (being positioned by workers despite "beware of dinosaur" signs) is the latest addition to Florida Power & Light Company's Turkey Point Plant development. A creation of steel, glass, stucco with green glass eyes and aluminum teeth, the dinosaur represents the past preserved at Turkey Point's 3,000-acre natural park and conservation area. Located within view of new generating units—including Florida's first nuclear units now under construction—he is one of a series of symbols with which FPL expects to depict the cycle of power from prehistoric to modern times. The dinosaur was conceived by FPL Board Chairman McGregor Smith and created by Pete Dunan at Dunan Brick Yards in Miami.
